Intern/Working Student

Our Mission

We are a Munich-based seed-stage startup and develop a first-of-a-kind deep-tech medical software. It will assist physicians to find the best possible mechanical ventilation treatment for the individual patient – anywhere at any time. Ebenbuild forges medical images of a patient and physiological data into a personalized digital twin of that particular patient: A culmination of in-depth physiological knowledge, AI/machine learning, and physics-based algorithms. Our motivation: Enable unprecedented medical insights and tailored precision treatment. Our mission: Improve the odds for recovery and survival of millions each year.

The Opportunity

We want you to join us as an integral part of our team. You will harness your business and problem-solving skills to ...

- ... work directly with the founders
- ... support preparations for our next financing round
- ... develop, improve, and maintain our financial planning
- ... analyze and improve our existing business processes
- ... work independently on your own projects and present them to the company
- ... take on new tasks and responsibilities as they arise in early start-up life
- ... and play a key role in shaping the foundations of the business

How you'll enhance the Ebenbuild skillset

- A Bachelor's or Master's degree in Business Administration, Finance or a related field
- Relevant experience in the field of venture capital, private equity, startup or business consulting
- Strong interest in technology and health-tech
- Very good written and verbal communication skills in English. German is a plus.
- Substantial problem solving and troubleshooting skills
- Use them gigahertz! Anticipate repetitive tasks, break them down and automate them

Perhaps most importantly, this position requires grit and a certain dose of "Abenteuerlust".

Why Join us

- Shape the path of a company that will have a measurable impact on the lives of patients
- Be able to take on new tasks and grow as a person in an ever-changing environment
- Join an interdisciplinary team of highly motivated, skilled and ambitious people. Individual contributions count...a lot!
